FOREWORD

In Lee County, Virginia, deaths were first recorded in 1853. The last such records in the Death Register are dated 1877. The Death Register is indexed.

Several years ago, it was found that there were some later death records. These, on loose sheets, are not indexed.

The dates of the later records begin with 1878, and continue into 1897.

All of these death records are included in this publication, and all are indexed, both as to the names of the deceased and of all persons mentioned.

PREFACE

475
In searching the index, consider all possible ways of spelling a name. Great liberties were taken with the spelling in early records, a name sometimes being spelled more than one way in the same record.

Nancy Brant, page 41, was surely Nancy Bryant. We find this surname, Brant, nowhere else in the records, and Nancy appears with the Bryant family.

It is almost certain that the surname recorded as Dorothy was only an incorrect spelling of the surname Daugherty. Compare Walker B. and Barthena Garrett on page 74 with Walter B. and Parthena Garrett on page 104. Eliza and T. J. Farkner, on page 181, were probably the same as Eliza and Thomas Fortner, page 183.

Errors may have been made in copying some of the names. We have tried to be accurate, but some of the handwritten records are very difficult to read, even when one is familiar with the names of the area. The initial "I", which looks to be just that on certain records, could possibly be "J". And having found what looked to be Kitera Grimes and Kitora Grimes, there is little doubt that this was the same person, but what was her name? Both spellings may be incorrect.

Of some errors, we are certain. Yet, we copied the names as recorded. Elizabeth Screech, page 6, was Elizabeth Creech. And Samuel Treet, page 102, was Samuel Tritt. This surname sometimes was called Trett, also.

In many of the records, only first names of parents were given, no surnames. This creates no problem when it was a son's death which was being recorded. In the event of a married daughter's death, however, "John and Mary" may not be of much help.

On page 53, David Moore's age is given as 18, but the figure probably should have been 81. At least, certainly not 18, since the record shows that a son survived him, a son old enough to furnish data for the record. This has been checked, and 18 is the age given in the Death Register in the courthouse.

Through descendants of two of the deceased on record, we can add a bit of information. On page 94, the death record of Drury E. Fleenor names Lettitia B. Fleenor as his wife. We are told that Lettitia's maiden name was Hampton. On page 149, the death record of Eliza M. Sarver is given. Concerning her parentage, the record lists only _____ Harless. Eliza's father was Israel Harless. Information on both of these records was received after the pages were printed.

When the same name appears on a page more than once, but indicated as definitely different persons, this is shown, following the page number, by the number of such persons. For instance: Johnson, Sarah - 66 (2).

In this compilation of Lee County, Virginia, death records, we sincerely hope that you will find much help with your family histories.
